University of Technology

The talents and skills of the students and staff at the Australian School of Fine Wood at the Forest Heritage Centre are recognised with a memorandum of understanding between the Australian School of Fine Wood and the Faculty of Built Environment, Art and Design, Curtin University of Technology. The agreement provides a pathway for students from the Australian School of Fine Wood to articulate into Curtin's furniture design degree.

This academic pathway offers students the craftsmanship skills and design expertise to become leading edge designers for the fine wood and furniture industries.

- A furniture design course that is cutting edge and is directly relevant to industry.
- Students learn a blend of traditional craftsmanship with contemporary leading design.
- The courses focus on construction skills and expertise in furniture design.
- This is an opportunity to experience studying in the heart of the jarrah forrests surrounding the historic timber town of Dwellingup and articulate into a top ranking Australian University in metropolitan Perth.
